„best2“ - The results at a glance: 11% of the roughly 2.8 million students in Germany have a study-affecting impairment. What are the obstacles they face in studying? How are their difficulties compensated for? What has changed since the first survey in 2011? Nearly 21,000 students with impairments took part in the second „beeinträchtigt studieren - best2“ survey among 153 higher education institutions in the winter semester of 2016/2017.
