Poster competition

Students tackle higher education topics, translate them into images and develop their own positions on the various issues. These are the strengths of the Deutsches Studentenwerk's poster competition.

[9]The Deutsches Studentenwerk's poster competition invites graphic design, visual communication and communication design students to take a creative look at topics that are relevant to Studentenwerke and higher education institutions, and to communicate these topics to the public using striking and catchy visual messages.

The competition has been taking place every year since 1987. It is funded by the Federal Ministry of Education and Research and its co-operation partner is the Berlin Museum for Communication.
